CELI

CERTIFICATION

Certification CELI is an officially recognized diploma

certifying the degree of linguistic and communicative competence in Italian. The CELI Certification adopted the system of six levels of linguistic-communicative competency given by the Common European Reference Chart proposed by the Council of Europe. The CELI certification is issued after an examination based on tests on communicative skills. Competence in Italian as a foreign language is described, measured, evaluated and guaranteed with scientific criteria and finds in the Language Testing its own reference standards.

Sport - Football International Programs Opera Network

Cultural and Football program for young International Students Opera Network Florence

Opera Network has the vocation to promote intercultural exchange and to extend it from the world of art, music and Italian language to that of sports and Italian football in particular.

The main objective is to offer to young athletes an all-round experience of Italian cultural life, where they have the opportunity to play an entire football season with expert professional teachers, in order to favour the meeting between the Chinese and Italian football players that not only leads to develop and grow Chinese football but it is also a time for human exchange.

The presence of Chinese athletes with a good potential and prospects for growing will be enhanced by integrating experiences in Asian youth sectors and they will complete their professional training thanks to the tradition, experience and history of the Italian Football Sector.

The project, of course, is not just limited to the players training. The goal is the development of the whole football system, extending this attempt also to the coaches themselves, carrying out a cross didactics also with stages in China itself or in Florence, which can improve the teaching techniques, thanks to the experience, preparation and professionalism of the technical teachers.

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Course of Italian Language

The Program includes an Italian Language Course, especially conceived for young players, where a specific didactic module on sports and football technical language is also provided. The course will be held by specialized teachers of Opera Network, which is the Examination Center (CVCL) of the University for Foreigners of Perugia. At the end of the course the students can take the exam for the CELI Linguistic Certification A1 / A2 Level recognized internationally for all the effects of the law. School studies integrate the sports training and the study of the Italian Language as described above.

Events and visits

Throughout the year, with around two outings per month, various recreational activities will be organized, such as *:

- Guided tours to Florence and to the main Tuscan cities, including the main museums, will be prepared through meetings and specific lessons held by official tour guides and art historians.
- Guided tour of the Serie A, B Football Championships
- Participation in live cultural performances with particular reference to the main events realized in Tuscany.
- Ceremony for the Delivery of the Diploma of Participation to the Program.

 Cultural events and tourist visits will be combined with sports trips.*

Throughout the duration of the Program, a Chinese language tutor is expected to follow the activities of the students and will be a linguistic mediator during the training sessions.

DURATION

The Program has the ideal duration for students over the age of 14, the entire school year, which in Italy is 9 months runs from half September to half June, but modules of six months, three months and one month can also be envisaged.

CONCLUSIONS

The Program, unique in Italy, has as a priority the balance between training professional development and cultural studies in relation with the age of the participants. The main point the exchange between international students and the socialization with Italian country.
